

Consumer Buzz

4/28/2017

UPS Looks Up

Ann-Marie Vazzano

UPS is giving Amazon a run (or flight?) for its money. According to Business Insider, UPS is testing deliveries using drones. The drones can be charged while docked on top of electric UPS trucks, where drivers can work on loading boxes and setting flight paths. The move comes just as Amazon announced Prime Air, a program that also uses drones to deliver packages autonomously. GP