“Swedish dish cloths are an eco-friendly alternative to paper towels, as they are reuseable and can last for months. You’ve got to try them!” he wrote in, adding he sells more than 300 a year. “It’s just a simple POS cardboard box where the approximately 6 x 8-in. stiff towels (they soften up when wet) stand up so customers can ‘page’ through the various seasonal designs. They cost $3.00 and retail for $6.95 and are a perfect impulse buy.”

Other suggestions we received were garden trowels and gloves. I would add another one: fertilizer tubs or bags. Got another suggestion? Email me at jpolanz@ballpublishing.com and we'll keep the topic going! GP
