greenPROFIT

Front Lines

4/30/2026

Looking for a Good Podcast?

Jennifer Polanz

We've got you covered—members of our crack team are hard at work providing you options, including a couple of newer ones you may not have heard about yet (I myself stick to writing, thank you very much).

Of course, you know Tech on Demand, brought to you by GrowerTalks. But in case you don't, it's Bill Calkins' main pod featuring guests of all types, spanning grower and retailer topics like pest and disease control, culture information, AI usage, and much more.

Chris Beytes jumped into the podcasting action this year with the elegantly titled The Chris Beytes Podcast, where he's currently chatting with our previous Young Grower Award winners.

Ellen Wells hit upload on a series of podcasts this year, too, called I Dig Your Story (and I dig your title, Ellen!). While not solely hort related, there are a good number of hort folks who've been on, like Diane Blazek and Kathy Jentz, just to name a few.

For most of these pods, you can find them wherever you listen to your favorites, like Spotify, Apple, Amazon, etc. For The Chris Beytes Podcast and more Tech on Demand, head to the GrowerTalks YouTube page where you can find them under Playlists. GP