

Consumer Buzz

1/31/2017

A Gender Divide

Ann-Marie Vazzano

Men and women have two very different views as to who's responsible for their household's spending, according to a report from CreditCards.com. When asked who was in charge of holiday purchasing, 63% of women said they or another female in the household were responsible. However, only 30% of men said a woman was in charge of holiday purchases. Nearly three-quarters (73%) of women said a female does the majority of the household's clothes shopping, but only 23% of men said a woman was in charge. GP