

Consumer Buzz

5/31/2017

Fill 'Er Up

Ann-Marie Vazzano

Consumers won't cut back on driving until gas prices reach $3.37 per gallon, according to the recent NACS Consumer Fuels Survey. Prices would have to reach $4.43 per gallon before they'd drastically reduce their driving or look for alternatives to driving. Overall, 84% of those surveyed say low gas prices are good for the economy. GP