Casual Elegance

Jennifer Polanz

I recently reached out to the lovely folks at IMC, the owners of AmericasMart in Atlanta, to give us a sneak peek at what buyers will see at Casual Market Atlanta in July. They didn't disappoint, providing a look at just a few of the newer introductions that will be on display there.

But first, did you know the casual furniture show that used to be in Chicago is now in Atlanta? The show, Casual Market Atlanta, is in partnership with the International Casual Furnishings Association and takes place July 10-13. The best part is, it's co-located with Atlanta Market, which runs July 11-17. The showrooms will be open, as will more than 100 temporary exhibitors on Floors 6 and 7 in Building 1.

Meanwhile, you can find the Casual/Outdoor Furnishings collection on Floors 2 through 5 in Building 1, with nearly 50 brands in new, spacious showrooms (I was able to check some of them out while I was there in January for the gift market). Here's just a taste of what you'll see there.

Cane-line

Conversations in outdoor settings often become more subdued and intimate after dark, and there's nothing more enjoyable than chatting with good friends for hours in the twilight. Cane-line has developed an array of outdoor LED lanterns that light up in the evening.

Lane Venture

The Smith Lake Luxe Swivel Rocker by Lane Venture utilizes pub-style, high-back styling for the ultimate comfort for outdoor living. The gentle back curve of this aluminum frame offers a modern silhouette with generous, comfortable seating proportions. The Contempo fire pit is made from weather-resistant premium powder-coated aluminum, including a solid top, burner cover and heat-resistant glass rocks. Made in the USA.

Homecrest Outdoor Living

Inspired by a bird in flight, Homecrest Outdoor Living's Wren collection features arms that curve gracefully like wings gliding over water. The frame is constructed using powder-coated aluminum extrusions, ensuring maximum durability and weather resistance. The perfect complement to Wren is the Latitude fire table—a chameleon for different outdoor space styles. Latitude’s clean, slated aluminum tops can fit and elevate the aesthetic of any outdoor space, from a boardwalk-inspired beachside look to a more rustic cabin style that captures the feel of a luxury ski resort. Made in Wadena, Minnesota.
